

CURRICULUM VITAE

| | | | |
|-------------------------|---|----------------|-----|
| Name | Ronald Jackups, Jr. | Country | USA |
| Current Position | Associate Professor Department of Pathology & Immunology Washington University School of Medicine | | |

| Educational Background | | |
|------------------------|-------|--------------------------------------|
| 2008 | Ph.D. | University of Illinois at Chicago |
| 2008 | M.D. | University of Illinois at Chicago |
| 2000 | B.A. | Washington University in Saint Louis |

| Professional Experience | |
|-------------------------|--|
| 2017-present | Associate Professor, Department of Pathology & Immunology, Washington University School of Medicine |
| 2012-2017 | Assistant Professor, Department of Pathology & Immunology, Washington University School of Medicine |

| Professional Organizations |
|---|
| American Association for Clinical Chemistry (AACC) Association for Pathology Informatics (API) College of American Pathologists (CAP) Academy of Clinical Laboratory Physicians and Scientists (ACLPS) Association for the Advancement of Blood & Biotherapies (AABB) |

| Main Scientific Publications |
|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Szymanski JJ, Qavi AJ, Laux K, Jackups R Jr. Once-per-visit alerts: A means to study alert compliance and reduce repeat laboratory testing. Clin Chem. 2019;65:1125-31. Hughes AO, Jackups R. Clinical Decision Support for Laboratory Testing. Clin Chem. 2022;68:402-12. Wilén CB, Booth GS, Grossman BJ, Lane WJ, Szklarski PC, Jackups R Jr. Using direct antiglobulin test results to reduce unnecessary cold agglutinin testing. Transfusion. 2017;57:1480-1484. |